As the game progresses, matches are organized through five rounds of progressive difficulty levels. The development process of this game took around two years. It was created on the Unity3D engine. During this process, the co-founder, Rémi Boutaud, and the French National Volleyball Federation (FNVB) gave feedback and suggestions about the game that were useful for the development of the game. A beta version was launched at the end of 2017, and the launch of the actual version in March 2018. The game was created by the French company, Jagex, and published by Atari SA. Gameplay The sport game is played on a 3D volleyball court with the usual gameplay. Players can choose one of the sixty national teams to lead. Each match involves five rounds with three games each. The game starts with the introduction of the four teams, who will be the main characters of the game. Each of them will have their own objectives and their own pace of evolution. A set of events will then be activated: unlocking the first characters, presenting the ball and game to the players, etc. In each round, one of the characters or groups of characters can be selected by the players, in order to complete some missions that they have assigned them. In each round, the player can choose one of the characters or teams to guide during the tournament. Once a round is completed, the final missions and the finale of the round are shown. At the end of each round, a ranking is calculated between the 60 teams. The top 20 teams are presented to the players at the end of the game in order to choose the final team that will win the competition. The game has been developed in order to represent as well as possible the actual international volleyball. It uses the two codes of the FIVB. In fact, for the development of the game, the FNVB allowed the use of the two codes of the federation, in order to have a realistic game. A survey was conducted amongst one hundred thousand French men and women. In order to make the game as accurate as possible, the authors took several elements from the real world: the FNVB had allowed to use the statistics of the actual teams, in order to have a realistic representation of the game. Technical The game is played on a 3D court. One of the co-founders of the company, Rémi Boutaud, stated that the game was created 82157476af
